ARSON is the suspected cause of a fire early Monday morning that claimed the interior of this 1976 Lincoln Continental. The car was parked in the yard of its owner, Gervaise Adolph, at 428 Labat Street in Bay St. Louis when the fire occurred. "The fire is of a suspicious nature and is under heavy investigation," Bay Fire Chief Andrew Lizana said. The doors were locked and the windows were rolled up when a combustible substance apparently was poured into the car through the crack at the top of a rear window and ignited, according to Hancock County Fire Marshal Jay Marsh. First respondents to the scene were Pam Sanfillipo and Louis Prendergast of the Bay Fire Department and Bay Police-man Shane Corr. (Echo staff photo by D.C. Harvill)

Chancellors name Haas judge

BY DENA BISNETTE
Hancock County Youth Court Referee Michael D. Haas Sr. has been redesignated Youth Court judge. Haas, who has served in the Youth Court for 25 years, told the Hancock County Board of Supervisors Monday that he had been appointed judge by Chancellors John S. Morris, William L. Stewart and Jason H. Floyd Jr.

He explained to the board that the change is mostly one of title, although it has been brought about by changes in the state's Youth Court laws that have recently expanded some of the court's authority.

The judge is a graduate of University of Southern Mississippi and University of Mississippi School of Law.

He has also graduated from the National College of Juvenile Justice training program and has served on various committees including the one that wrote the presently effective Youth Court laws.

Haas is a life-long resident of Hancock County.

He is married to Myrt Wingo Haas and they have six children.

Waveland agrees to meeting

Aldermen vote to start city animal commission

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Waveland Board of Aldermen, on the same night that its members made a decision to meet with other entities about the county's only animal shelter, has created its own animal commission.

The board, originally expected to take some action regarding a deadline for the withdrawal, adopted the ordinance Tuesday night by unanimous vote.

The aldermen had decided last month to ask Bay St. Louis and Hancock County to give up their stakes in the animal shelter they share with Waveland. The shelter is located in Waveland behind fire station no. 2 on Gulfside Drive.

Mayor John Longo Jr. had made the recommendation based on the size of the shelter, which he contends is too small to fill the current animal control needs of all three entities, and to lack of room for expansion. Longo had originally stated that he was prepared to give the other two entities "six months or so" to get out of the shelter, which he feels is being supported most by Waveland through the city's payment of unseen costs.

Those costs, he said, include such items as expenses of hauling away bodies of euthanized animals and time lost by city employees who often have to catch animals dumped at the shelter overnight before they can begin work at the nearby wastewater plant.

At the board's Tuesday night meeting, Longo said he is now interested in meeting with the Bay St. Louis City Council and Hancock County Board of Supervisors to work out the transition, rather than simply notifying each group by resolution.

A few minutes later, however, he asked the board to approve the ordinance that, in 30 days, will create a commission to oversee the operation of the shelter as Waveland's own.

The shelter operations are currently governed by a commission originally including 17 representatives of Bay St. Louis, Hancock County, Waveland and Hancock County Humane Society, although the membership is currently being reduced to 15 by attrition in a commission-approved move.

During the past two months, controversy has surfaced over whether the Humane Society representatives, who disagree with the rest of the commissioners about shelter reforms, should be allowed to remain on the commission.

Longo has stated that he is concerned about the possibility that having the society members, who are volunteers, handling public funds might cause problems for the city and the other entities involved in the shelter.

He explained that new state requirements for the handling of public monies may not provide for volunteer involvement. Currently, the shelter receives $400 monthly from each entity.

The ordinance contains no provisions concerning who may serve on Waveland's animal shelter commission, but does limit the body to five members who are all residents of Waveland.

It charges the new commission with "control and operation of the animal shelter."

The ordinance states, "They shall have general supervision of the care and treatment of animals brought to the shelter by the animal warden and other persons, and shall have the responsibility for the humane destruction of all animals not adopted under an adoption program to be established by the commission."

The ordinance also sets the initial terms of the commissioners to expire Dec. 1, 1989, gives them the right to accept donations for the operation of the shelter, and allows them to recommend fees to the aldermen for rabies shots, worming and other services.

The city's animal warden, Ed Abson, said he does not know if the ordinance can provide immediate help but explained, "Something's got to be done."

He has stated in public meetings that he does not pick up all the animals he could, because there is a limited amount of room and part of it is being taken up by animals from the county and Bay St. Louis.

Abson said he had euthanized 30 animals Tuesday morning, which were quickly replaced by another 28 brought into the shelter.

"That left me with only two runs, and tomorrow they'll be filled, but I'll have to keep all those animals," the dog warden said.

The shelter keeps any animals not sick or injured for five working days before they can be destroyed.

The meeting was tentatively set for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Hancock County Courthouse, after a public hearing on another matter. Bay St. Louis and county officials, however, have not confirmed the meeting date.

NSTL becomes Stennis Space Center

Thousands attend dedication

BY D.C. HARVILL
Despite oppressive heat, and a nearly total lack of respiteful breeze, a standing-room-only crowd turned out Wednesday to honor Senator John C. Stennis on the occasion of his 87th birthday and the dedication of Stennis Space Center in his honor. An estimated 5,000 people gathered at the center, under an unrelenting late morning sun, with temperatures in the 90's, listened as state and NASA officials poured forth accolades to the retiring senator, recounting his many acts of service to Mississippi and the space program during his 41 years in the U.S. Senate.

Following a soulful rendition of the national anthem by 1987

Miss Mississippi Toni Seawright and an invocation by long-time Stennis friend, Reverend Beverly Tinnin, SSC Director Jerry Hlass said of the senator from Kemper County,

"His support since the the beginning of the space program has been strong and steady. It has spanned the early years of the manned flight programs eventually leading to this nation landing a man on the moon. He championed the development of the space shuttle and most recently he has been a steady influence in supporting the development of the space station as the next logical step in man's quest to reach out into the universe for the benefit of mankind."

"Wherever we venture in our quest for the stars in the years to come we'll build on the foundation that John C. Stennis helped establish here," Hlass added.

Governor Ray Mabus said the center, originally known as the Mississippi test facility and then the National Space Technologies Laboratory, is finally getting the name it should have had all along.

"Countless of us are indebted to him," Mabus said. "It is hard to imagine a congress without Senator Stennis."

"Senator Thad Cochran informed the crowd that, on Monday Stennis had cast his 11,595th vote as a U.S. Senator, more roll-call votes than any other senator in U.S. history."

A bust of Senator Stennis was then unveiled by astronaut, NASA official, Mississippian Rear Admiral Richard Truly.

Stennis, confined to a wheelchair since the amputation of a leg several years ago, wheeled forward by an aide, took the rostrum.

The country has made great advances in the quest for superiority in space begun by President John F. Kennedy, the Senator said.

There have been problems and there are problems; it gets harder and harder, but we will face them as we always have, he said.

"The price of freedom is hard work," he declared in a hale voice with echoes of a Mississippi accent.

Stennis, who has chosen not to run for reelection when his term expires, told the crowd, fanning themselves with their programs, "I go away not to stay away but to come back. I want to come back."

After the senators reply a series of airplanes, vintage and modern, made fly overs of the ceremony site.

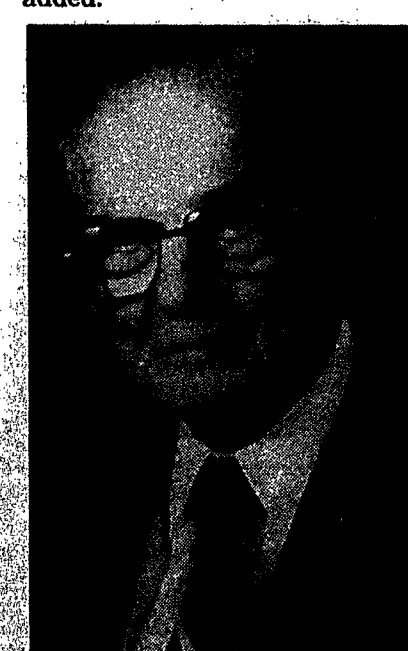

The crowd then moved to an air-conditioned tent where the Stennis was presented three large cakes and a giant birthday card, taller than an average height man, covered with the signatures of SSC employees. He was presented with several gifts, including a block of the first tree cut during the construction of the center.

The senator then signed autographs for guest, while Southern Exposure, a song and dance troupe from the University of Southern Mississippi, entertained the crowd.

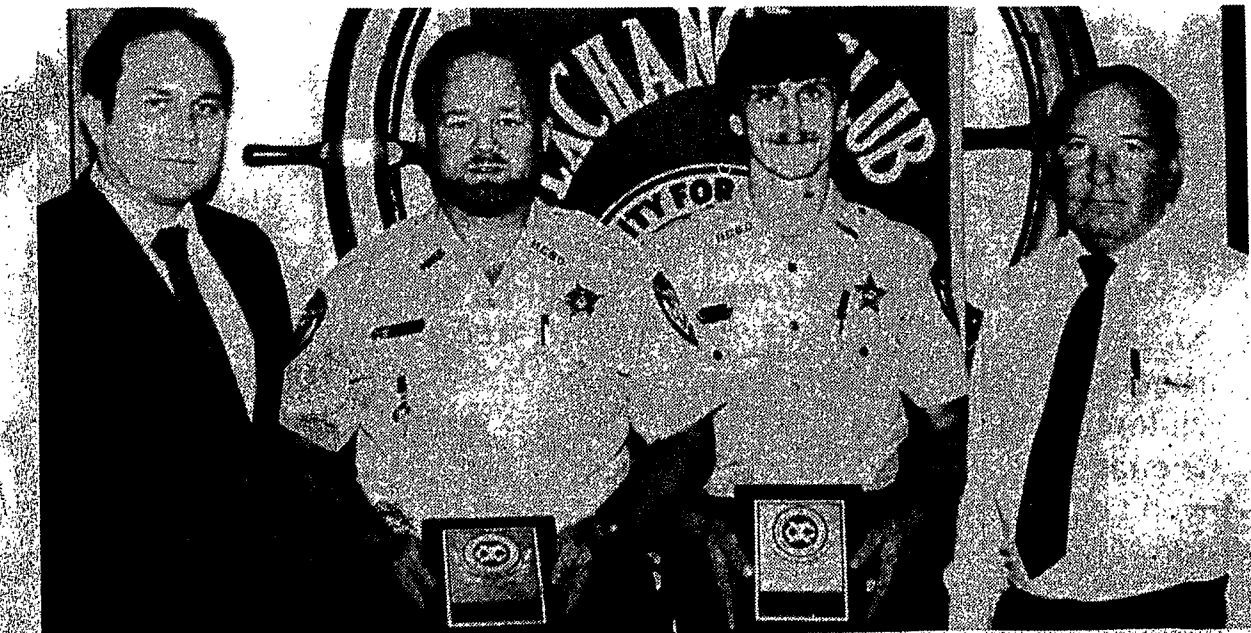

"He has really set a huge standard for all of us to follow," Congressman Trent Lott said.

"This is just the beginning of the honors deserved by a man how has done so much for Mississippi for so long," said State Representative Gene Taylor.

"It is impossible to adequately honor Senator Stennis for what he has done for Mississippi. He is a true visionary. You don't find many of them," Taylor added.

Moran benefit set for Saturday

A benefit to help defray the medical expenses of Charles Moran will be held Saturday July 6 in Lakeshore.

Moran, who died Sunday night, had had cancer for six years and spent most of the last three months in the hospital. He had no medical insurance, according to Cheryl Ward, coordinator for the benefit.

"His wife is in desperate need of the money," Ward says. The benefit will feature live entertainment including Keith Hoda and the Country Sounds, David Yarbrough and the Country Round-ups, Speed-O and the Rocket 88's, Thomas Tate and the Countians Bluegrass, the Dixieland Jazz Band, and the Moran Family.

Special guest will include B.J. Johnson, Sammy Cuevas, Gary Necaise, Garland Moran and Jack Moran.

Food available at the event will include fried chicken, seafood gumbo, jambalaya and potato salad.

The benefit begins at 11 a.m. Saturday at the Ward residence on Lower Bay Road in Lakeshore. Signs will provide directions from Highway 90.

Donations will be $5 for adults and $2 for children.

In the event of bad weather the benefit will be moved to the Hancock County Fairgrounds.

Tidelands commission to hold hearing in BSL

BY D.C. HARVILL
 The Blue Ribbon Commission, the body appointed by Mississippi Secretary of State Dick Mopolus to recommend a policy governing the states public trust tidelands, will meet in Bay St. Louis on Tuesday, August 9.

The committee, which had previously met in Harrison and Jackson Counties, will meet in the courtroom of the Hancock County Courthouse at 6 p.m.

The Boundary Committee of the commission will meet at 3 p.m. in the council chamber of the Bay St. Louis City Hall. The Lease Management Committee will meet at 4 p.m. and the Taxation Committee will meet at 5:30 in the courthouse.

One of the problems faced by the commission in the decision making process is determining what lands were subject to the ebb and flow of the tide before they were developed and how the policy will deal with those lands.

Lands in Hancock County that will fall into this category include property on some of the finger canals in the Shoreline Park area.

In an attempt to solicit input from the public on what the policy should be, the commission is publishing questionnaires in papers in the three coastal counties. A copy of the questionnaire can be found in this issue of The Echo.

Sewing for Children program scheduled

A program teaching construction techniques for use on children's clothes will be held Wednesday, Aug. 10, 9:30 a.m. at the Bay St. Louis Library meeting room.

The class covers fabric selection, trims, choosing correct pattern sizes, growth features design possibilities and recycling of garments.

"Sewing for children can be fun as well as economical. You don't have to be an expert to make a satisfactory child's garment. After all, any sewing 'mistakes' you make will not be around very long since children outgrow their clothes so quickly," said Extension Home Economist Darlene Underwood, program coordinator. The program is free. Participants might want to bring pad and pencil to take notes.

Ask Ochsner

Q. What does emphysema do to the lungs and how do you treat it?

A. Dr. Stephen Grinton, a specialist in lung diseases at the Ochsner Clinic of Baton Rouge says emphysema is a chronic lung condition in which air sacs (alveoli) become damaged or destroyed, making it virtually impossible for someone suffering from emphysema to fully exhale.

Most people in this country who have emphysema are between 50 and 70 years of age who have been or are heavy smokers. In the past, women did not develop emphysema as often as men, but this pattern is changing as more and more women continue to smoke heavily.

About 95 percent of all emphysema cases are caused by cigarette smoking, Dr. Grinton says. The other five percent can be attributed to other causes including heredity.

Symptoms of emphysema are subtle in its early stages. At first, there is a shortness of breath that increases in severity over several years. Gradually, the person will begin to wheeze and cough, occasionally producing sputum.

Sometimes, recurrent infections of the lungs or bronchial tubes will occur. It is usually these symptoms that cause people to seek medical attention.

Dr. Grinton says emphysema cannot be cured because lung tissue cannot regenerate itself. However, several forms of therapy are available that can enable patients to live more comfortably with the disease.

These include learning to control breathing and perform exercises that strengthen the diaphragm to help the breathing process. In the past, it was thought that exercise was not good for emphysema sufferers, but Dr. Grinton says, this theory has changed.

Walking and other exercise programs are very beneficial to emphysema patients. Before starting any exercise program, however, ask your physician.

He will review your health status and make sure it is acceptable for you to exercise.

The best "cure" for emphysema is to prevent it. This primarily means to stop smoking. Avoiding places with polluted air, preventing flu and pneumonia with immunizations and exercising moderately can also aid in the prevention of emphysema.

Ask Ochsner answers medical questions of general interest. We cannot reply directly to individual questions, nor should you consider general answers an adequate substitute to consulting your doctor about a specific complaint.

Hancock, Pearl River to ponder disposal

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors will meet Thursday with the Pearl River Board of Supervisors to discuss the possibility of a joint solution to both county's landfill problems.

The meeting is scheduled for 2 p.m. at the central county barn on Highway 43 in Kiln. Sometime this week, the State Bureau of Geology is expected to start borings that will indicate whether possible new landfill sites will meet standards enforced by U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Mississippi Bureau of Pollution Control and other regulatory agencies, according to David Taylor of Gulf Regional Planning Commission.

Taylor has been assisting the Hancock County supervisors and County Maintenance Superintendent Bill Johnson in efforts to find a short-term solution to a rapidly filling landfill, as well as a long-term method of garbage disposal.

The landfill, located at Catahoula, is actually owned by John C. Stennis Space Center, which gave the board until Aug. 31 to stop bringing garbage there despite the county's measures to stretch what room remained.

Those measures include sending trash such as leaves, sticks and other debris to an approved site at Standard and turning away tires, which can not be buried or burned, Board President and Beat Two Supervisor Ronald Cuevas stated.

Cuevas, with help from Stennis Space Center Director Jerry Hlass, was able to get an extension of 60 to 90 days on the deadline, provided that the county continued its efforts to look for another site.

Pearl River County's situation is even worse, State Senator Margaret "Wootsie" Tate told the Hancock County board recently. She had addressed the board as a resident of the county and a member of an anti-litter task force.

She explained that Pearl River County does not even have a landfill.

About half of Pearl River County's garbage must be hauled to a site outside the county and the other half is hauled to a private site near Picayune, with the costs for contracting for waste disposal services hitting the county and, ultimately, hitting the taxpayers.

The senator had proposed the seeking of a joint solution, as did Chuck Stewart, a representative of Browning-Ferris Industries, which handles several garbage-hauling contracts in the Gulf Coast area.

Cuevas said the board will base its decision regarding a short-term solution on the results of the soil borings.

The board has already met with representatives of several hauling and disposal firms and regulatory agencies to gather information regarding a long-term solution, but has currently taken no action other than requesting the meeting with Pearl River County officials.

A birthday present for a great man

On Wednesday U.S. Senator John C. Stennis was honored on his 87th birthday with the dedication of the National Space Technology Laboratories' name being officially changed to the John C. Stennis Space Center.

Senator Stennis, a long advocate of space exploration and great friend of the test facility here in Hancock County, has meant very much to the economic development of this area.

President Ronald Reagan signed the executive order on May 20 renaming the Hancock County facility in honor of the Mississippi senator of over 40 years because of his steadfast support of the nation's space program since its inception.

Many of the nation's, state's, and local top political and space leaders were on hand in Hancock County to honor a great man on Wednesday, the Honorable U.S. Senator John C. Stennis.

Quotables by Cuevas

It is hoped there will be a larger turnout of Hancock County's qualified electors on Saturday for the Southern District Highway Commissioner's race.

In the special election held two weeks ago only a very few people voted in Hancock County.

We realize Saturday elections are not too familiar in our county, but it is the day for the special election which has been set by our governor.

The original race of nine candidates has now been reduced to only two contenders, Sidney Barnett and Ronnie Shows.

The position of highway commissioner is very important as many of you are aware of some of Hancock County's highway problems.

So, please make an effort to vote on Saturday. Your vote is needed by the candidate of your choice.

Last Saturday morning I figured it was time for me to do a little fishing to see if I had lost my touch.

My brother Raymond and I were lucky enough to make a nice catch of speckled trout and even had the opportunity to again eat fish cooked German style.

The trout, after being marinated, were cooked on a stick over a grill, and they were delicious. Guess I will have to try and do a little more fishing.

In recent months we have been hearing a lot about the our decision in giving the state rights to some lands involved with tide flow.

The court decision gave the state ownership of some lands in which owners bought and have been paying taxes for many years.

A Blue Ribbon Commission on Public Trust Tidelands has been appointed by Secretary of State Dick Mompus and they will be conducting a hearing in Hancock County on Tuesday, 6 p.m. at the Hancock County Courthouse.

In this issue of the Echo appears a Public Notice seeking input from citizens for this special commission. We know there are many residents who waterfront property in this county and it is hoped many of them will attend Tuesday's public hearing.

The commission has been asked to examine five specific issues; boundary, littoral/riparian rights, conservation and development, taxation, and lease management.

Comments and suggestions are needed by the special commission on these five matters, and property owners have an opportunity of expressing their views on the survey in today's paper.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

It's never too late... for old dogs to learn new tricks!

July 29, 1988
Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

To the Editor:

Who says "Old dogs can't learn new tricks"? I say they're crazy! Since I have been entrusted with the recruitment of students for USM Gulf Coast, I have been absolutely amazed by the amount of times I've heard the statement, "Who me? Oh no, I'm too old to go to school!" I'm behind the person who said, "You can't turn back the clock, but you can wind it up again!"

George Eliot once said, "It's never too late to be what you might have been." A graduate who attended USM while working full time and supporting a family illustrates this notion wonderfully.

In describing her initial feelings about beginning school, she said, "I calculated that I would be 30 when I finished. This was very discouraging. Then I realized that I would be 30 anyway, so I could be 30 with a degree or without one—the choice was mine to make." This student graduated with a perfect 4.0 grade point average and highest honors!

I do not mean to diminish the challenges involved in undertaking the new and unknown. I do know that anyone who can read this newspaper can do as well as most other students doing college coursework.

In fact, older students are often the most conscientious and sensible students. After all, they've acquired an abundance of knowledge through life experiences. The best tunes are played by old instruments!

A good life involves continuous stretching and growing—becoming more and more of one's potentialities. It involves the courage to be.

Maslow says that "self-actualized people have a wonderful capacity to appreciate again and again, freshly and naively, the basic goods of life with awe, pleasure, wonder, and even ecstasy, however stale these experiences may be for other people."

So please let me encourage you to strive to grow, to take a class, make new friends, go after a new job, regardless of your age. It's never too late, never to late!

Painless death a better condition than being caged for some animals

To the Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Editor:

Recently the Humane Society president, Thyla P. Rogers, in a letter that required 24.5 inches of space in your paper, enumerated shocking and deplorable conditions existing at the Animal Shelter and in her concluding paragraph said: "Now is the time to make some changes. You can either condone it by doing nothing or you can do something about it. The decision is yours."

Abraham Lincoln has been quoted as saying: "The Lord must have loved the common people. He made so many of them."

The Lord must also have loved stray dogs and mangy cats—there are so many of them!

We are aware that dogs roam the streets, upset garbage pails, get in the way of moving traffic, give bike riders and joggers a bad time, but they aren't treadly picked up because there is no room for them in a crowded shelter.

What can be done about it? Recently I read the Charter Ordinances of the City of Bay St. Louis. This charter was approved March 19, 1886. James A. Ulman was then mayor. Chapter IX, Article 1—Dogs, handled the matter this way:

"Every owner or person keeping any dog or dogs shall not permit them to run at large within the limits of the city, and if found by the Marshal running loose or at large in any public place in said city, shall be by the Marshal taken up and impounded, as other animals under the circumstances, and shall as soon as practicable give notice thereof to the owner of such dog, if known, unless the expense of impounding and keeping such dog, and a fine of one dollar, are paid to such Marshal in three days after such dog is impounded, such dog shall be by the Marshal destroyed."

And the article continues: "All dogs found running at large between the first day of July and the first day of October, following in each year, shall be by the Marshal destroyed without notice."

The problem of destroying an unwanted animal poses several considerations:

1. Does our little city with sanitary garbage disposal capacity already limited have the facilities needed for proper disposal of numerous dogs?

2. If the answer to that question is "No"—have alternate solutions been explored? Such as a crematory? Properly located such a facility could save money on transportation to distant places and added cost of labor.

3. From the standpoint of humanitarianism, in my opinion, it would be kinder to put these animals to death in a painless manner than to keep them penned up in conditions as described in Mrs. Rogers' report.

Walk in the animals' paws for a weekend

July 19, 1988
Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir:

After reading Thyla P. Rogers' letter written in your newspaper on July 28 describing how human beings treat living, loving animals at the Waveland Animal Shelter, I could not help but feel how ironic it is that domesticated animals like dogs, cats and birds are being promoted to aid heart patients, nursing home residents, lonely people and sick people in general.

All animals are God's creatures and while homelessness is a problem, there is no excuse for cruelty, neglect and filth.

This is like a double standard—abuse them and use them!

I found no humor in Ms. Rogers' letter, so how could commissioners and wardens consider this scenario a laughing situation?

Is what is being done so decent and proper that a veterinary advisor stated to the press, "This is one of the finest shelters in the State of Mississippi?"

Could it be that an adjective was omitted in that quote that would aptly describe the deplorable conditions listed in Ms. Rogers' letter?

To keep the commissioners laughing, I wonder what they would think of this idea: I read a piece in your paper about the five-member Commission on Wildlife Conservation. These people seem to have it all together through teamwork and pride—even Governor Mabus is involved in this.

My suggestion is to reclassify dogs and cats as wildlife which will give them the protection they so rightfully deserve and will receive from the Wildlife Conservation system.

As for the Hancock Animal Commission, I suggest they walk in the animals' paws for a weekend, and be a part of the existing scene of cages filled with feces and urine, contaminated, moldy food, ticks and fleas, brown-colored drinking water, roaches, flies, clouds of cigarette smoke and for their sleeping quarters—wet, vomited on concrete.

Since we have to get used to the way things are done on the Gulf Coast, this could be a good learning experience, but I wonder if they would still be laughing?

Sincerely,
Kathleen Little

In Congress

By Congressman Trent Lott

SHOOTING FOR THE STARS

When I was growing up I wanted to be a pharmacist. My favorite uncle, Uncle Big Jim, was a pharmacist. I wanted to be just like him.

Not many kids grow up wanting to be a pharmacist. In fact, most of my friends wanted to be policemen, firemen or nurses. Today, however, more and more young people dream about becoming astronauts. If you think about it, that makes a lot of sense.

When I was a child, the space program was still in its infancy. I can remember reading a passage in my science book that went something like this: "and one day we may even send a man to the moon."

The space program has made great strides since then. We've traveled to the moon and even landed on it. Now, we're even talking about a trip to Mars.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration does a bulk of its work in Florida, but little by little, other states are playing a bigger role. Texas, Alabama and now more than ever, Mississippi are leading the way.

For years, the National Space Technology Laboratories in Hancock County, Mississippi has played an integral part in the Space Shuttle Program.

Our test facility there is state of the art. Well, now NASA has decided to bring North Mississippi into the fold. Recently, Tishomingo County was selected by NASA to build its Advanced Solid Rocket Motors; the system that will eventually power our space shuttles back into space. This was great news for Mississippi. This project could have been awarded to Florida, but it wasn't. Our efforts paid off.

The space program has had its setbacks. January 26, 1986, the day the Challenger burst into flames, was a day we will not soon forget, but we're recovering, slowly and surely.

It will take money and commitment, but I think we're ready to deliver both. Congress has already appropriated a sizeable budget boost for NASA next year and we are just months away from resuming our space shuttle launches.

So, I think NASA's commitment to Mississippi and our State's commitment to the U.S. space program is healthy, especially for our young people. It shows them that if they are willing to work and put forth the necessary effort, even the sky is limitless, whether they want to be an astronaut, a fireman, a policeman, a nurse, or even a pharmacist.

The People's Business

A Weekly Editorial
From Mississippi Economic Council

As Mississippi's march toward county government reform moves onward the disinformation campaign seems to grow.

Most recent example of the disinformation floating around is the alleged fear that under a unit system, three of a county's five supervisors could gang up on the other two, stripping two county beats of any road funds or personnel.

First, let's understand the issue. Most counties in Mississippi presently operate road programs under the beat system. That means that each supervisor administers his own road system—that's five road systems per county. He purchases his own equipment; employs his own labor force; and, in too many cases, builds his own maintenance shop on his own property—at county expense.

Under the beat system, generally, county road money is split five ways, one fifth to each beat regardless of the needs of the county as a whole.

The unit system would change all that. Under the unit system, the county would have one road system for the county as a whole. A county road manager would direct the total program. And equipment purchases and hiring of labor would be administered for the county as a whole. The obvious duplications and wasteful practices of the beat system would be removed. Taxpayers would get more efficient use of their dollars.

Back to the disinformation about three supervisors gang-ing up on the other two...

They can do that now—under the beat system. Three supervisors can rearrange the distribution of county funds under either the beat system or the unit system.

Don't be misled by this disinformation.

Those who spread such disinformation knew the truth about the distribution of county funds.

Taxpayers need to know the truth, too.

Now they do.

Whitfield appointed Beat 3 supervisor

BY DENA BISNETTE

Bay St. Louis native Bill Whitfield has been appointed interim supervisor for Beat Three.

Whitfield replaces Roger Dale Ladner, who resigned Friday in accordance with a plea-bargaining agreement in his "Operation Pretense" conviction, until a special election set for the first Tuesday in November.

The interim supervisor, 51, operates Sam Whitfield Timber Company, Inc., on the Jourdan River. The firm is a family-owned business which has been operating in Hancock County since 1937.

Whitfield has a bachelor of science degree in forestry from Mississippi State University and is a graduate of McCallie High School in Chattanooga, Tenn.

He is married to Joyce G. Whitfield and they reside in Cedar Point. They have two adult children, James Whitfield of Milwaukee, Wisc., and Beth Phillips of Augusta, Ga.

He said he was "surprised" to be appointed supervisor.

"I'm a native of the area and I've always been interested in how things went around; I'd like to take a little part in it."

Whitfield, appointed Monday morning by unanimous vote of the four remaining supervisors, will be sworn in after a public official bond is finalized.

Also on Monday, the board authorized the Hancock County Election Commission to prepare for the Beat Three special election.

A special election for the Beat Four supervisor's seat, currently filled by interim Supervisor Omer Haas, has also been set for Nov. 8, Election Commissioner Charles Gottschalk said.

He commented that the elections will be the same day as the presidential primary, several congressional races, all five county election commissioner posts and those Hancock County School Board seats with terms expiring this year.

The date of the special election is set by state law, with exceptions allowed only by request of the governor.

One such request was the Saturday election for the southern district highway commissioner, for which a run-off is to be conducted Saturday.

To avoid confusion regarding the supervisor elections, the Hancock County Circuit Clerk's Office is distributing qualifying petitions but is not planning to accept the completed petitions from potential candidates until Monday.

The qualifying deadline for the special election is Sept. 9. Rumors have surfaced in both districts regarding possible candidates for the supervisor posts. Possible candidates include Bay City Councilman Lisa Coward, County Recreation Director Hilda Bourg and Clifton Saucier.

Nine possibilities in Beat Four include Hancock County Jail Warden Jim Odom, Martin DeSalvo, Sheriff's Deputy Albert Biehl, former Bay St. Louis City Councilman Harry Farve, Kelvin Schulz, Sidney Sandoz, City Councilman John Wilkerson, Calvin Smith and Hancock County School Board member Billie Lyons.

Booth space available at festival

Regional artists, craftsmen, antique dealers and musicians will highlight Bogalusa's Festival in the Park, Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 1 and 2 at Cassidy Park in Bogalusa.

Last year was the festival's first, and its success has resulted in plans for an expanded festival this year. It has been estimated that 10,000 people attended last year's two-day event. Admission is free. There will be a 5K foot race Saturday morning, followed by a parade to officially open the festival.

A new entertainment stage has been completed in anticipation of appearances by one or more national touring music groups. The musical entertainment will be free.

Anyone interested in securing booth space should contact the Bogalusa Chamber of Commerce at 608 Willis Avenue, Bogalusa, La. 70427, or call at (504) 735-5731.

That's not what Trent Lott said in south Mississippi.

In his battle for U.S. Senate with U.S. Rep. Wayne Dowdy, Trent Lott is saying one thing here at home in south Mississippi and doing another in northeast Mississippi.

Recently, Trent Lott told workers in south Mississippi he was lobbying for the location of the solid rocket booster program at the Stennis Space Center in Bay St. Louis over the Yellow Creek site.

Oddly enough, in northeast Mississippi Trent Lott said he would not support Bay St. Louis over the Yellow Creek location in Tishomingo County for the same rocket plant.

That's double-talk. He's once again misleading the good people of Mississippi.

Now that he is running for office, Trent Lott is telling us what we want to hear and misrepresenting his record.

Once again, double-talking. Trent Lott told our senior citizens he supported social security. His record proves he voted to cut social security. He told educators he supported student loans, when he, in fact, voted against the entire program. He told all Mississippians he supported highway programs yet he consistently voted to eliminate highway funding for most of our Mississippi highways.

Which Trent Lott are we to believe? Actions speak louder than words.

Wayne Dowdy has fought and voted for all Mississippians for the past seven years as our United States Congressman.

Wayne Dowdy talks straight and his voting record proves it.

Election Day is November 8th. That's the day you have to take sides in the Senate election.

We suggest that before you decide whose side you're on, you look at who's been on your side all along.

Pass driver charged in New Orleans truck crash

An enormous plume of black smoke rose from eastern New Orleans Saturday afternoon when an 18-wheeler hauling gasoline crashed and exploded at the bottom of the Paris Road bridge. No one was hurt, The Times Picayune reported.

The truck driver, John Colan, 26, of Pass Christian, was booked with DWI, New Orleans police said.

His blood-alcohol level was recorded at .128 percent, above the legal limit of .10.

Shortly before the accident, Colan had filled his truck with 8,600 gallons of gasoline at the nearby Murphy Oil Corp. refinery in Meroux.

Riding with his brother-in-law, Pat Mason, 20, also of Pass Christian, Colan was headed for Long Beach, Miss., to deliver the fuel. But the trip lasted only minutes.

"I came off the bridge and I lost my brakes," said Colan, a driver for Coastal Energy Co.

The Paris Road bridge, which crosses the Intracoastal Waterway, makes a steep descent that leads into a hard left turn and a traffic light.

Colan said the truck was moving about 45 mph when he lost control.

Arrest nets food manager

BY D.C. HARVILL

The manager of the Bay St. Louis Burger King Restaurant was arrested Friday, July 29 on drug charges.

Phil Norman, 25, was arrested by Hancock County Sheriff's personnel when he allegedly sold half and ounce of marijuana to an undercover officer in the parking lot of a Highway 90 shopping center in Bay St. Louis.

Following the arrest, a search of Norman's Route 6, Bay St. Louis residence turned up half a pound of marijuana.

Booked with possession of a controlled substance with intent to distribute, he is out of jail on a $5,000 bond.

Norman's arrest was part of a crack down that netted three other weekend arrests.

The investigator in charge of the case, Glen Strong, said it was doubtful a bigger, subsequent arrest that had been hoped for would be made.

CONSUMER UPDATE on contracts

By Janet K. Lukens
Area Consumer
Management Specialist
Some consumers are unaware of the potential dangers of hastily entering into a contract without proper precautions. Avoid signing away your past, present, and future by following these practices.

Avoiding consumer problems may be as simple as doing business only with reputable firms.

ETV Briefs

CHORUS LINES
The curtain comes down on the three-program series "In Performance at the White House: A Salute to Broadway" when President and Mrs. Reagan host a rousing program of unforgettable Broadway choruses at 9 p.m., Wednesday, August 10, on Mississippi ETV.

Joining master of ceremonies Marvin Hamlisch for a reprise of Broadway's most memorable ensemble tunes are Shirley Jones ("Oklahoma," "Music Man" and "Carousel") and Stubby Kaye ("Guys and Dolls" and "Li'l Abner").

Never sign your name to anything you have not read or do not understand completely. Be sure to read the fine print. If you can't understand the contract, have an expert review it. If the promoter will not let you have another person review it first, do not sign the contract.

Be sure that all verbal promises are included in the written contract and that the contract is no different than what the salesman told you. If there is a discrepancy, don't sign it unless he writes out what he's promised, signs it himself and gives it to you as part of the contract.

Draw through any blank lines in the contract to prevent anything from being added that might alter the meaning of the contract. Do not even sign a contract with blank spaces that "the manager will fill in for you later." Insist that the contract be completed before signing it.

Don't let a salesman change contracts so that you read one, but actually sign another one. If, after you've read it, he takes it away for a minute, then returns it, read it again to be sure it is the same one. Make sure the carbon is the same as the front sheet, too.

Don't sign a contract that the salesman offers to hold for a certain period of time for you or until you make up your mind. If the contract is signed, he could execute it as soon as you've walked out the door and you'd be required to pay.

You may have to sign two agreements when purchasing with credit—one to purchase the item and the other to borrow the money to pay for it.

The agreement to borrow the money usually belongs to someone besides the dealer. If you return the item to the dealer, you will still owe the full amount of money for it to the other company. The Federal Trade Commission's "cooling-off" rule gives you three days to cancel a purchase of $25 or more.

This rule applies to purchases made away from the seller's regular place of business.

The cooling-off rule does not apply to sales that are made at the seller's regular place of business; are made totally by mail or phone; are under $25; are for real estate, insurance, or securities; or are for emergency home repairs.

Producers and importers unable to vote in person may request an absentee ballot by writing or visiting Dr. James W. Shannon, Pork Referendum State Extension Coordinator at room 316, Bost Extension Center, Post Office Box 5446, Mississippi State, Mississippi 39762.

Absentee Ballots will be available from August 1 until close of business, August 26, 1988.

Absentee ballot return envelopes, containing ballot and registration/certification statements, must be signed by the voter and mailed so as to be received in the county Extension office serving the county of voter residence, by close of business on September 1, 1988.

All pork producers who produced (and owned) hogs or feeder pigs in the U.S. for sale in commerce and who are subject to check-off assessment during the representative time period of November 1, 1986, through September 6, 1988 are eligible to vote.

Importers who imported hogs, pork or pork products during the representative time period are also eligible to vote. Also eligible are 4-H, FFA and other youth who owned hogs and are subject to assessment during the representative time period.

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service will count ballots, determine the eligibility of challenged voters and ballots and report Referendum results.

Murphy joins 'Chorus Line'

Nineteen players have been selected for roles in the Broadway musical 'A Chorus Line,' opening Aug. 26 for three performances at Biloxi's Saenger Theater.

The cast: Angie Atkins as Connie; Chuck Bates as Al; Twyla Boudreaux as Kristine; Eddy Coleman as Mike; Shannon Conner-Burton as Diana; Terese Gargiulo as Cassie; Lavern Hooker as Bebe; David Lucas as Zack; Linda Marinovich as Val; Denise Mason as Judy; Claudia Murphy as Sheila; Roy C. Napper as Bobby; Quinton Shaw as Mark; Anthony Starcher as Paul; Jimmy Stewart as Don; Lori Wales as Maggie; Mary Weaver as assistant stage director; Jerome Wilcox as Richie; and Gary Zinn as Greg.

The Pulitzer Prize-winning 'Chorus Line' is a presentation of Riviera Productions, a Gulf Coast organization. The musical will run Aug. 26 and 27 at 8 p.m., and Aug. 27 at 2 p.m.

Characters in 'A Chorus Line,' now in its 14th year on Broadway, are for the most part based upon experiences of Broadway dancers—the so-called 'gypsies.'

Reserved seat tickets for the Aug. 26 and 27 night performances are $10 in advance and $12 at showtime. General admission tickets for the Aug. 27 matinee are $8 in advance and $10 at showtime.

Advance tickets are available at Mississippi Coast Coliseum, Gulf Coast Arts Council, Hancock Bank in downtown Gulfport, Gulf National Bank in Bay St. Louis, and Gayle Clark Artisans in Ocean Springs.

Matinee tickets for senior citizens and students are $7. Matinee has no reserved seats.

'Summertime and the living is easy'—remember the old refrain? Well, my own special refrain and my summertime philosophy for the most part is: 'Summertime and the cooking is easy' or should be!

In these hot and humid days, I do my baking and other cooking for the most part early in the morning or late in the evening, planning on a quick warm-up of hot dishes at the appropriate time—why spend your money on cooling for the home and then dissipate the cool in the warmer hours with oven or stovetop heat?

But, since mankind does not live by sandwiches and cold cuts alone, even in the heat of summer, we must approach the stove even when we'd rather be having a swim or such.

So, we turn to elegant but easy dishes, for summer suppers and dinners, dishes which can even fool the diners into believing that you've slaved in the kitchen for some time!

One of my favorites, using the delicious shrimp fresh from our own waters, is Thelma Yockey's:

Shrimp Special

Four or five lbs. peeled raw shrimp

1 bunch green onions, chopped

Garlic, the more the better, says Thelma, at least 4 chopped cloves

Parsley

Dash of salt

Generous splashes of white wine Worcestershire sauce (or white wine)

Cayenne pepper or hot pepper sauce to your taste

1 stick, or more, of butter

Lay shrimp in shallow, oblong casserole. Cover with the chopped onions and garlic, and add the other ingredients, covering the whole business liberally with the butter.

Bake in a 350 degree oven for 20 minutes or a bit longer, or until shrimp are almost done—but do not overcook!

Place under broiler for just a minute or so.

This may be cooked ahead of time, as Thelma usually does, and heated over or microwave before serving—in fact, Thelma often cooks it in the microwave briefly from the beginning.

Serve, as Thelma says, with "lots and lots of hot French bread for mopping up the wonderful sauce."

And, if you want to stretch the servings, serve over hot rice or spaghetti. (Six generous servings).

Waveland no-show cancels animal commission meeting

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Animal Commission has not been able to meet since Waveland Mayor John Longo Jr. decided that Waveland should take over the county's only existing animal shelter.

Most of the chairs were full at the Waveland Police Station's courtroom July 27 when the most recent meeting was scheduled, but the meeting could not be conducted due to the absence of all of the commission's Waveland representatives.

Cel Dumestre, commission chairman, lives in Waveland but is officially counted as a Hancock County representative because he was originally appointed to the commission by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors.

Dumestre explained that commission bylaws contain a restriction keeping meetings from being conducted without at least one representative each from the county, Waveland and Bay St. Louis.

The chairman said he had tried to reach the Waveland commissioners by telephone without success and called the meeting off after people waited about half an hour.

Dumestre commented that he found the situation particularly unusual because he had not heard from Waveland commissioner Ardley Hanemann, who prepares shelter reports for commission members.

Usually, Hanemann has provided the reports even when unable to attend the meeting and sends them to Dumestre for distribution, the chairman explained.

Bay St. Louis Mayor Victor Frankiewicz Jr., who was at the National Democratic Convention in Atlanta, Ga., when Longo declared the shelter too small for all three entities and asked that it be turned back over to Waveland, was offered a chance to speak to those commissioners who did attend.

The mayor said he and City Councilman John Wilkerson were attending the meeting only as observers. They were accompanied by another council member, Lisa Cowand, but she was also attending as a commission member.

After several weeks of controversy regarding whether the Hancock County Humane Society, a volunteer organization, should be allowed to serve on the commission, Longo told Hanemann and the other Waveland representative, Barbara Jo Fitch and Richard Fitch, that he feels the shelter is too small to serve three entities and that he would ask the other entities to provide their own shelters.

Longo cited lack of land for expansion and unseen costs to Waveland including the hauling of the bodies of euthanized animals to the county landfill as reasons for his decision.

Cowand, who attended the meeting where he asked the aldermen to consider asking the county and Bay St. Louis to leave the shelter, pleaded for time, citing the need to find land and the expense of setting up an independent shelter.

The board of supervisors did not discuss the matter at their meeting on Monday.

Frankiewicz, discussing the situation after the failed attempt to conduct a commission meeting, said he is "generally against splitting up and starting independent shelters," based on his belief that the three entities all lack sufficient funds to operate and maintain good shelters on their own.

Wilkerson agreed, adding that there is a move for consolidation of many aspects of government and that the shelter is "the one thing that's consolidated that's been working fine."

Cowand said she hoped the matter would not be decided based on the controversy between the commission and the Humane Society over whether reforms can be made at the shelter and whether volunteers may work there.

"I hope this didn't evolve from personality conflicts," she said. "That shelter should be able to go on running through this."

"We've had several controversies in the eight years or so I've been on the commission and we always survived before."

FLAMES DEVOUR a home on Barracuda Street in Shoreline Park at about 2:30 a.m. Monday, top photo. Although the fire was extinguished through the combined efforts of the East Hancock and BaySide Park volunteer fire departments, the remains of the structure continued to smolder and rekindled at least once Monday afternoon, bottom photo. Hancock County Fire Marshal Jay Marsh said the building was a summer home owned by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond D. Hendrix of Carriere and combined an elevated mobile home with front and rear additions. He said Mrs. Hendrix told him she had checked on the house Thursday and found no problems. Marsh said the fire apparently started at the rear of the structure near the electrical service and fuse boxes at about 1:45 a.m., but no specific cause has been determined. Also responding was Waveland Police Department. (Top photo by Gene Moran) (Echo staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

Ten free white flowering dogwoods offered

Ten free white flowering dogwood trees will be given to each person who joins The National Arbor Day Foundation during August.

The free trees are part of the nonprofit Foundation's efforts to encourage tree planting throughout America.

"The white flowering dogwoods will add year-round beauty to your home and neighborhood," John Rosenow, the Foundation's executive director, said. "Dogwoods have showy spring flowers, scarlet autumn foliage, and red berries which attract songbirds all winter."

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting between Oct. 15 and Dec. 10 with enclosed planting instructions. The six to twelve inch trees are guaranteed to grow or they will be replaced free of charge.

HELLO MR. CHIPS

Mississippi ETV viewers can say hello to Mr. Chips again when "Masterpiece Theatre" presents an encore broadcast of the critically acclaimed production with Roy Marsden at 9 p.m., Sundays, beginning August 7.

The critics have commented on how different Marsden's "Goodbye, Mr. Chips" portrayal is from Robert Donat's performance in the 1939 film version of James Hilton's best-loved novel.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, send a $10 membership contribution to: Ten Dogwoods, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE 68410, Aug. 31.

BRUCE FAYARD of Rt. 4, Box 276, Bay St. Louis, displays the six-pound, four-ounce speckled trout that was the winner in a recent "Biggest Trout" contest sponsored by Shawn's Bait and Tackle. The fish was caught July 20 at Bayou Cadet near the railroad tracks leading from Bordages Fish Camp. Fayard said the bait he used was live shrimp. The contest runner-up weighed in at five pounds, eight ounces. The August contest at Shawn's Bait and Tackle is "Biggest Flounder."

BIG JACK—Monty Gilbert of Gulfport hoist a jackfish he caught recently off the American Legion Pier in Bay St. Louis. Gilbert, who is a frequent user of the pier says he was using "pop-eye mullet" for bait and that it took 25 minutes to land the big fish, which he estimated to weigh 40lbs., on an 11 foot surf-casting rod. Wildlife Department seeks input on crabbing, shrimping proposal

LONG BEACH—The State Department of Wildlife will be holding workshops and public hearings in the coming weeks to gather information concerning proposed regulations on crabbing and shrimping.

The workshops and hearings will be aimed at getting input from Mississippi fishermen that would help wildlife commissioners decide if they should close crabbing waters in the Mississippi Sound around Cat Island and close upper coastal bays to live-bait shrimpers.

Chris Synder, spokesman for the department's Bureau of Marine Resources, said that it is important to fishermen that they attend these workshops and hearings and give information to the bureau so that commissioners will be able to make an informed decision.

"This proposal is not a final decision. It's just a starting point," Synder said. "There are other alternatives open to us. This is just a means of laying the issue on the table."

The commission voted Wednesday to consider proposals that would declare waters around Cat Island to be a sanctuary for blue crabs and to close waters North of the CSX Railroad bridges in the Bay of St. Louis, Back Bay of Biloxi and the Pascagoula River to all shrimping.

Additionally, waters within one-half mile of the shoreline in the three Coastal counties would remain closed to commercial and recreational shrimping.

The proposals were developed by bureau staff and were reviewed by key staff members of the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory.

The proposals are intended to protect the blue crab population, protect the young marine life in the nursery areas of the upper bays and to establish a system of equitable access to fishing grounds for fishermen. No hearing dates have been set.

The blue-crabbing proposal will close the waters around Cat Island from January 1, 1989, until shrimping season begins the following summer. A 1975 study by the research lab showed that the majority of the crabs taken in this area were egg crabs.

The blue crab proposal would prohibit the taking of crabs for commercial or recreation use by trap or trawl.

In the colder months, egg-bearing crabs leave the protected waters of lakes Ponchartraine and Borgne in Louisiana and migrate into the more open waters around Cat Island.

Bureau officials have been concerned that the increased commercial fishing of blue crabs in recent years has damaged the crab population.

"These are all female crabs out there. They've already mated and will be putting on (egg) sponges soon," Dr. Richard L. Leard, bureau director, said before Wednesday's action by the commission. "I don't see that the (crabbing) industry can be harmed if we protect these crabs."

Bureau officials say that fishing pressure has increased on the crab population because poor oyster harvests in recent years have forced fishermen to begin trawling for crabs to supplement incomes.

Controversy arose last year when wildlife commissioners voted to restrict trawlers from Cat Island waters in order to protect the egg-bearing crabs.

Leard said that it would be unfair to allow crabbers to set traps around Cat Island while restricting shrimpers from trawling for crabs in the same

Fishing Summer Vegetation

Earl Bentz
Steve Pugh

Of all the summer bass fishing patterns available to anglers, the one many like—or dislike—the most, is fishing vegetation.

Many factors cause this love/hate relationship, not the least of which is that vegetation comes in many forms, such as hydrilla, milfoil, moss, lily pads, or hyacinths, and ferreting out largemouths from acres and acres of this greenery can take hours of casting.

The good part about summer vegetation, however, is that it does hold bass, and those fish can be enticed to strike during the hottest part of the day.

"I like to fish a buzz bait over vegetation like milfoil and hydrilla," says Johnson Outboards Pro Staff Member Charlie Reed, winner of the 1986 Bass Masters Classic* world championship on Tennessee's grass-filled Lake Chickamauga. "With a buzz bait you can draw fish out of even the heaviest grass."

When fishing vegetation early, Reed prefers a very quiet

14-ounce buzz bait, and he works it as slowly as possible around the edges of visible grass. As the day progresses and the sun begins to heat the water, Reed changes to a louder buzz bait that creates more commotion. He still tries to work the lure as slowly as possible and he keeps it in the strike zone as much as he can.

On many lakes, milfoil and other vegetation mats on the surface, forming a green carpet that can cover literally miles of water. In situations like this, Reed often fishes a weedless spoon with a plastic grub attached as a trailer.

He likes to fish this lure early in the morning, or when the sky is overcast. It isn't nearly as effective on bright days because the lure doesn't make as much noise or commotion as a buzz bait.

"The key to fishing a weedless one-hook spoon," says Reed, "is to keep working the lure and not set the hook until you actually feel the bass pulling it down. It's important to keep your hooks as sharp as possible, and when you do set the hook, do it as hard as possible. Just cast over the vegetation and retrieve the spoon right over it."

Once the topwater action ends, Reed may change to a plastic worm and drift through vegetation, pitching the worm ahead of him. He uses a straight-tail worm that slips through the vegetation easier, and a slip sinker heavy enough to pull the lure down.

"I make short pitch-casts into the thickest part of the vegetation I can," explains Reed. "A lot of anglers fish only little holes and openings in the grass, but I catch better bass hiding in heavier cover."

"Drifting with the wind works best for this technique," he adds. "I trim up the outboard and pull up the trolling motor and simply let the wind push me."

On some lakes where floating hyacinths are present, flipping plastic worms can be productive. The roots of these plants extend only about two or three feet below the surface but they're frequently home to small shrimp and crayfish the bass eat.

Where possible, anglers simply run their boats 15 to 20 feet into the hyacinth gardens and then begin flipping the worms down right beside the boat.

"What happens," says Reed, "is that the boat knocks the shrimp and crayfish loose from the roots. Bass begin feeding on them, and will readily hit a worm jigged right in there with them."

Because the hyacinths are often quite thick, a 3/4-ounce or even a full one-ounce slip sinker

USM season ticket campaign

Golden Eagle News

In an effort to boost season tickets sales and game attendance during the upcoming football season, The University of Southern Mississippi has unveiled the most massive season ticket marketing plan in the history of the institution.

An intense two-month campaign will encompass a wide variety of activities designed to inform, excite and create great expectations for the upcoming season.

"We want to stress the availability and affordability of season tickets, as well as the excitement about the upcoming season," William E. "Bud" Kirkpatrick, director of public relations, said.

The plan calls for broadcast and print media news stories and advertisements. Direct mail to contact certain segments of the marketplace also is included in the plan.

Off-campus season ticket sales outlets will be used for the first time. Sales outlets will be located in Hattiesburg, Jackson, McComb, Vicksburg and on the Gulf Coast. Kirkpatrick said that all sales outlets are not open at this time, but the public should watch local media for opening announcements.

In Hattiesburg, the USM Football Store is scheduled for a late July opening, at Cloverleaf Mall. A variety of events will be programmed at the store through Sept. 2.

"We want people to come to the store, talk USM, view displays, pick up the printed material, have a cup of coffee and, of course, purchase their season tickets," Kirkpatrick said.

In Jackson, tickets will be available at the Mississippi Coliseum, and at six locations of Hale & Jones Sporting Goods. The McComb and Vicksburg locations also will be at Hale & Jones stores. On the Coast, the Mississippi Coast Coliseum ticket office will be the outlet.

A massive faculty-staff campaign will focus on the campus community. Campaign leadership will be selected from the ranks of faculty and staff. Additionally, a phonathon was conducted the week of July 25. Individuals called were briefed on the season ticket plans and the upcoming season, and were given an opportunity to purchase tickets over the telephone.

A USM whistlestop caravan, the 'Eagle Express,' is planned to conduct rallies in some 27 cities and towns across South Mississippi during August. The 'Eagle Express' stops currently in the planning stage include:

Aug. 5, Collins, Magee, Jackson, Vicksburg.

Aug. 22, Columbia, Tyler-town, McComb, Brookhaven, Monticello, Prentiss.

August 23, Wiggins, Gulfport, Biloxi, Pascagoula, Mobile, Lucedale.

Aug. 24, Laurel, Waynesboro, Quitman, Meridian, Bay Springs.

Aug. 26, Purvis, Lumberton, Poplarville, Picayune, Slidell, Bay St. Louis.

Crabs.....

The Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs, in cooperation with other Gulf Coast states, will begin immediately to formulate plans for a study of crab populations.

The study which will include a crab-tagging program is scheduled to last between three and five years.

Bureau officials claim that closure of upper bays to all shrimping is a necessary action because past sampling has repeatedly shown that a large number of juvenile fin fish, such as croakers, white trout and spots, inhabit these waters year round.

Since 1960 live-bait shrimpers have been allowed to shrimp in the upper bays during certain times.

"Those waters are a nursery area for a lot of species of marine life," Dr. Fred Deegen, chief of the bureau's fisheries division, said. "Biologically it doesn't matter how long a shrimp is when you catch it, but it does with fin fish. Most of those young species of fish haven't had a chance to mate yet when they're caught in the bays."

Shrimp stay in upper bays until an abnormal influx of fresh water drives them out into the Sound or until they migrate into open water to spawn.

"We understand that fishermen's needs are immediate," Scott Gordon, a bureau fisheries biologist said. "But not allowing shrimping in the bays will benefit most shrimpers in the long run. Those shrimp will have to come out of the bays sooner or later, and when they do they'll be bigger."

In the past two weeks, 17 live baiters have been arrested by conservation officers for shrimping in closed waters and for having too many dead shrimp aboard their boats.

Live-bait shrimpers are only allowed to have 20 pounds of dead shrimp. Some of those arrested, according to bureau Assistant Chief of Law Enforcement Hank Boudreaux, had up to 150 pounds of dead shrimp aboard their boats.

"It's clear that they (live baiters) are catching plenty of shrimp by the number of dead shrimp they have on board," Boudreaux said. "They're catching more shrimp than they can keep alive."

There are 48 licensed bait camps in the three coastal counties.

In the past, commercial shrimpers have claimed that it is unfair to allow live baiters to shrimp in the upper bays while commercial fishermen are forced to shrimp south of the half-mile limit.

In other business, the commission voted to change regulations so that commissioners would have more flexibility in reducing the minimum size limit on oysters and in redefining "prohibited," "restricted," and "conditionally approved" oyster areas.

The prohibited label on an oyster reef means that no oysters may be taken from it. Restricted means that oysters may be taken for relaying purposes only.

Conditionally approved means that oysters may be taken from a reef only under certain conditions, such as during an unusually long dry period.

Leard said that plans call for the status redefining of oyster reefs during the next few months.

Hearings will be held on the changed regulations, Leard said.

is needed to pull the worm down. Once it breaks through to the water below the roots, it can be jigged rapidly up and down to generate strikes; it should not be dropped completely to the bottom.

Very often the edge of a grassline or hyacinth bed signals a change in depth, and Reed recommends anglers fish those edges when looking for summer bass patterns.

He keeps his boat right on the edge of the grass and pitches a jig or plastic worm ahead of him. He lets the lure fall to the bottom, lifts it slightly once or twice, and if there are no hits, reels in for another cast.

"On lakes with matted hydrilla, bass actually locate underneath it where it opens up," explains Reed. "It's difficult to get a lure through hydrilla because it's so thick, but you can work the edges of it and draw fish out."

Another way to fish these edges, says the Johnson Outboard pro, is to use a deep diving crankbait and work it with long casts that bring the lure along the edge of the grass. This is especially productive when the bass seem to want a faster-moving lure.

Before vegetation like this completely mats over on the surface, Reed often uses a floating, shallow-running crankbait that he twitches over the top of the greenery. The lure imitates an injured minnow with its erratic, darting motion.

"I always like to see baitfish activity around vegetation," says Reed, "because I know, where baitfish are present, bass won't be far away."

Reed also recommends anglers look for isolated patches of vegetation whenever possible, because these seem to attract and hold bass better than many other forms of cover, such as rocks, brush or even boat houses.

the University," said Kirkpatrick. "This may sound a bit ambitious, but so is our campaign. As we speak about the upcoming season, I have 'great expectations' about this campaign."

Two themes will be used for the campaign.

Kirkpatrick said the first theme will focus on the growing enthusiasm for new coach Curley Hallman and his staff, and a renewed enthusiasm for Golden Eagle football in general. This concept will be represented by the theme: "The Attack is Back!" giving attention to the enthusiasm, surrounding USM's anticipated air and ground attacks. Aimed at sparking season ticket sales and boosting game attendance, the theme "Catch 'em All!" will be employed. This theme also capitalizes on the passing arm of quarterback sensation Brett Favre and his corps of speedy receivers.

Garden Isle Community Association children's fishing rodeo was hosted recently at the home of association president Elroy Schwebel.

Co-chairperson was Shirley Schwebel.

"The children had a bad fishing day for themselves. The fish just were not hungry. We had a total of 29 children to register but only a few were lucky enough to catch any fish to win," Shirley Schwebel stated.

Although all were not winners, each child was given a small trophy for entering and participating.

There also was a drawing for three rod and reel sets donated to the rodeo by Jo Ellen and Fred Sandro's Sportsworld.

Hot dogs and soft drinks were the refreshments for the little fisher people.

Winners of the 2-6 age group were Scotty Hillburn, 6-oz. croaker, first place; Ryan Williamson, 3-oz. catfish, second place; and Shana Ockman, 2-oz. trout, third place.

Winners of the 7-11 age group are, Brandi Curry, 8-oz. catfish, first; Tiffany Curry, 4-oz. trout, second; and Jeffery Ramos, 2-oz. trout, third.

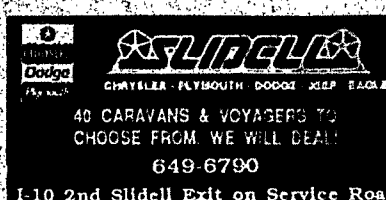

Winners of the 12-16 group include Manny Galland, 1 lb-3 oz. drum, first place; no second or third place winners.

Winners of the rods and reels were Shana Ockman, 2-6 age group; Marcell Ockman, 7-11; and Manny Galland, 12-16 age group, who gave his to Stacey Ockman because she had not caught a fish. Manny and Stacey were the only two in the 12-16 age group attending, so he thought she should have the rod and reel. "Very good sportsmanship, Manny."

Better luck to all the children next year.

Heart Association golf scores as fundraiser

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Hancock County Chapter of American Heart Association takes advantage of Diamondhead's golf facilities each year by staging a golf tournament as an annual fundraiser.

Hancock County Chairman Stephen Planchard said this year's tournament, conducted in May, raised about $8,000.

When combined with funds donated at a Stennis Space Center dance-a-thon, Hancock County collections totalled about $11,000.

Although the funds for each county are included in National Heart Association totals, monies are used in the counties where they were collected for such items as research, public education and assisting needy patients in purchase of medication.

Planchard said the golf tournament, being the Hancock County chapter's major fundraiser, is an extensive project that usually starts in October. It was first tried five years ago and has remained a successful event, he added.

Planchard, who has been tournament chairman for two years, said it takes about 30 people serving on more than 20 committees to prepare for the event, which must compete with numerous other golf tournaments during the same time of year.

Among the jobs these committee members must handle for each individual tournament will be obtaining donations of both small and large prizes, such as the trip to Denmark given away this year, or a car to be awarded to a golfer scoring a hole-in-one.

Volunteers sell sponsorship signs to be placed at each hole, work at hospitality centers on the course, take registration and see that enough pre-tournament publicity is received, in addition to other chores.

The organizational meeting for the 1989 tournament is being scheduled in October. Anyone interested in volunteering, making a donation or obtaining more information may contact Planchard at Hancock Bank.

Power volleyball tourney set on Coast

For many years, two-man volleyball, played outdoors on sand courts, was dominate in Southern Florida and on the West Coast.

"But now, we're seeing its popularity grow in Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana," says Jimmy Levens, host of the upcoming Long Beach Power Volleyball classic.

"The game is quite a challenge—you and your teammate play on a sand court where there's no sure footing. It's such a fast-paced game, you have to have instant reflexes. There's no time for guessing. Winning takes a lot of endurance and sheer talent," states Levens.

Once played just for fun, two-man sand volleyball now generates earnings, for some teams, in excess of $100,000 in a single season.

"Sinjin Smith and Randy Stoklos come to mind first," says Levens.

"I read a news article that said Smith and Stoklos were guaranteed $400,000 in prize money if they win through this year."

This is the first year of the Long Beach Power Volleyball Classic, being held Aug. 12-14 at Levens' Sports Center in Long Beach. Cash prizes of $2,000 will be up for grabs with the first place team receiving $1,200, second place team taking $400 and third and fourth place teams earning $200 each.

"We invite all two-man teams to call and register early, since we have to limit the number of teams to 45," adds Levens.

To get more information or to pre-register, call Levens' Sports Center at 601-868-1323.

Little Dixie bass tourney rankings told

Tommy Newell of Ocean Springs has won the fourth Little Dixie Bass Association qualifying tournament.

The June 25 tournament, held on the Biloxi River near Gulfport, was marked by spirited competition and catch weights far below expectations.

"Everyone was giving it everything they had, but the fish just weren't biting," said Newell. "But it's still a good feeling to come in first. This is my first first-place win. If I can do it when the fish aren't biting, I can do it again when they are."

Newell's first-place string held four bass with a catch weight of four pounds, nine ounces.

Ardell Pruitt of Laurel came in second, catching two bass with a combined weight of two pounds, ten ounces.

Hattiesburg fisherman Jude Tisdale placed third with a two pound, eight ounce bass, which also won Tisdale the Lunker Pot.

With two tournaments to go, the competition remains heated for the title Little Dixie Angler of the Year. Currently, the top 15 contenders are:

1. Charles Noble, Laurel, 17 pounds, 14 ounces; 2. Jude Tisdale, Hattiesburg, 17 pounds, 8 ounces; 3. Kenneth Murphy,

LEGAL NOTICESSUBSTITUTED TRUSTEE'S NOTICE OF SALE

Whereas, on October 8, 1986, John Lindsey and Catherine Y. Lindsey, executed a certain Deed of Trust to secure an indebtedness to Dr. John F. Loupe and wife, and G. Loupe, as beneficiaries, which Deed of Trust is on file and of record in the office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, at Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, in Deed of Trust Record Book 226, Page 371, thereof; and,

WHEREAS, the legal holder of said Deed of Trust and the Note secured thereby, substituted Lucien M. Gex, Jr., as Trustee therein, as authorized by the terms thereof by instrument recorded in the office of the aforesaid Chancery Clerk in Deed of Trust Book 319, at page 639 thereof; and,

WHEREAS, default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness secured by said Deed of Trust, and having been requested by the legal holder of the indebtedness secured and described by said Deed of Trust so to do, notice is hereby given that I, Lucien M. Gex, Jr., Substituted Trustee, by virtue of the authority conferred upon me in said Deed of Trust, will offer for sale and will sell at public sale and outcry to the highest and best bidder for cash, during legal hours (being between the hours of 11 o'clock a.m. and 4 o'clock p.m.) at the main front door of the County Courthouse of Hancock County in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, on the 12th day of August, 1988, the following described land and property, being the same land and property described in said Deed of Trust, situated in Hancock County, Mississippi, to-wit:

Commencing at a stake at the Southeast corner of Section 3, Township 9 South, Range 14 West; thence North 230 feet to a point; thence West 18 feet to an iron stake, at the point of beginning; thence West 350 feet to a point; thence North 100 feet to a point; thence East 350 feet to a point; thence South 100 feet to the point of beginning, being part of Lot 105, Second Ward, Town of Waveland, Hancock County, Mississippi, as per the official map or plat of said subdivision on file and of record in the office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi.

Together with all improvements located thereon.

This to the above property is believed to be good, but I will convey only such title as is vested in me as Substituted Trustee.

WITNESS MY SIGNATURE, on this the 21st day of July, 1988.

NOTICE OF SALE

WHEREAS, the United States of America, acting by and through the Farmers Home Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, is the owner and holder of the following real estate deed(s) of trust, securing an indebtedness therein mentioned and covering certain real estate hereinafter described located in Hancock County, Mississippi, said deed(s) of trust being duly recorded in the office of the Chancery Clerk in and for said County and State:

GRANTOR(S): Dorothy S. Powell

DATE EXECUTED: August 2, 1984

TRUST DEED BOOK: 266

WHEREAS, default has occurred in the payment of the indebtedness secured by said deed(s) of trust, and the United States of America, as Beneficiary, has authorized and instructed me as Substituted Trustee, to foreclose said deed(s) of trust by advertisement and sale at public auction in accordance with the statutes made and provided therefor.

THEREFORE, notice is hereby given that pursuant to the power of sale contained in said deed(s) of trust and in accordance with the statutes made and provided therefor, the said deed(s) of trust will be foreclosed and the property covered thereby and hereinafter described will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash at the front door of the county courthouse in the town of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, in the aforesaid County at 1:30 P.M. on August 29, 1988, to satisfy the indebtedness now due under and secured by said deed(s) of trust.

The premises to be sold are described as:

Lots 22, 33 and 34, Block 55 of the Bay St. Louis Land and Improvement Company's Subdivision of part of the Bay St. Louis Land and Improvement Company's First Addition to the City of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, as per the official plat of said subdivision filed in the office of the Chancery Clerk of said County on April 27, 1897.

Date: August 4, 1988

Frank W. Niemeyer, Jr., Substituted Trustee

Duly authorized to act in the premises by instrument dated February 7, 1986, and recorded in Book 1, Page 3-4, of the records of the aforesaid County and State.

Stanislaus grad earns language scholarship

JOSEPH OVERAL

Joseph Overal, a 1988 graduate of St. Stanislaus High School, is the recipient of the Emily deMontluzin Foreign Language Scholarship for 1988.

This scholarship is awarded each year to a high school senior in Hancock County who has excelled for at least two years in a foreign language course and who will continue his studies of the language during his freshman year in college.

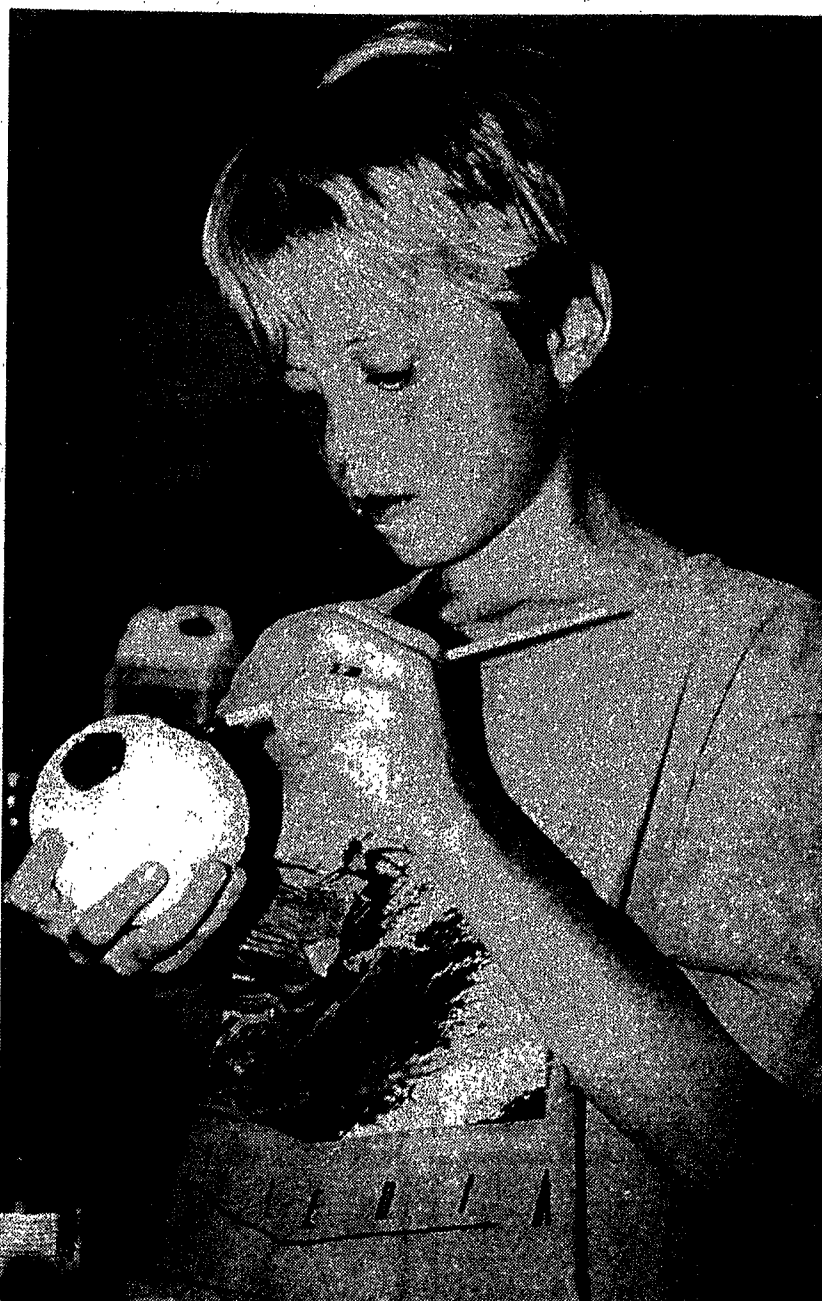

Overal excelled in French at St. Stanislaus, and he will continue his study of French at Tulane University in the fall.

Overal, an honor roll student, attended St. Stanislaus for seven years. He was a member of the marching and concert band, the varsity quiz bowl team, the drama club, and the computer club. He is the son of Mrs. Dorothy Overal of Bay St. Louis.

JARED BEGNAUD, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Begnaud of Lafayette, La., takes a go-cart spree around the SSC traffic circle.

RANDY SCIFO, son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Scifo Jr. of New Orleans, La. and dancing partner Stephanie Findley.

CHARLIE BLAIZE, son of Mrs. Rita Watson of Bay St. Louis, participates in the camp's ceramics crafts class.

COUNSELOR JOHN BAXTER is 'crowned' by one of the campers.

Commencement slated

UNIVERSITY—There are 415 candidates for degrees to be awarded during Aug. 6 commencement exercises at The University of Mississippi.

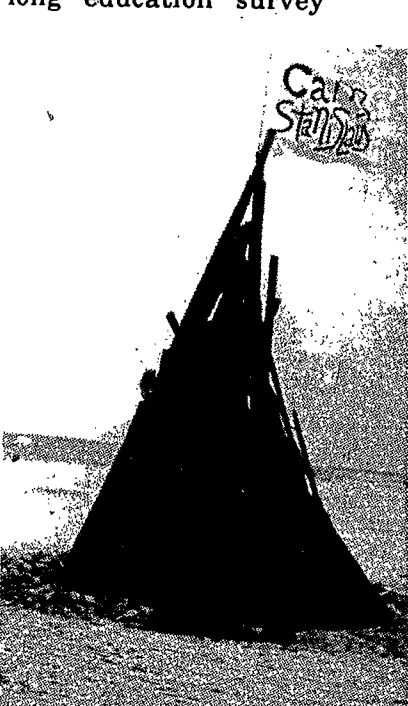

The featured speaker at the 1:30 p.m. ceremonies in C.M. "Tad" Smith Coliseum will be Lamar Alexander, who assumed the presidency of the University of Tennessee on July 1.

Ole Miss Chancellor Gerald Turner will preside over the exercises at which 280 undergraduate degrees, 105 master's and other graduate-level degrees, 26 doctor philosophy degrees and four juris doctor degrees are expected to be awarded.

Immediately following the commencement ceremonies, Chancellor and Mrs. Gerald Turner will host a reception at the Ole Miss Union ballroom in honor of the graduates and their families.

The graduation speaker is a past recipient of the Education Commission of the United States' James B. Conant Award for "outstanding national leadership in education." When Alexander was governor of Tennessee, he chaired the National Governors' Association's year-long education survey

At commencement exercises of Our Lady Academy in Bay St. Louis, Bishop Howze, Sister Jacqueline Howard and Mary Alice Benvenuti conferred diplomas on 32 candidates. Recipients of five special awards were announced: The Chamber of Commerce

Bontemps Post No. 139 to the student who, in service to community, has shown high qualities of honor, courage, scholarship, leadership, companionship and character, went to Jan Elizabeth Scardino, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Scardino Jr. of Pass Christian.

The Achievement Award, presented to the student who has shown the most improvement, effort and progress in academic work went to Susan Lynn Lavinghouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lavinghouse of Waveland.

The Mary Patricia Schmidt Character Cup, presented by Our Lady Academy School Board president to the student who exemplifies such traits of character as Christian maturity, courage, dependability, service to others, sincerity and stability went to Sabrina Marie Kersanac, daughter of Mr. Joseph Kersanac and Mrs. D. Larroux Kersanac of Bay St. Louis.

The Principal's Cup, presented to the student who is a member of the National Honor Society and who has demonstrated to an outstanding degree the qualities of character, scholarship, leadership and service, went to Jennifer Leigh Burrows, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Burrows of Pearlinton.

At a Senior Awards Assembly, academic awards were presented to the student with highest average in a subject, and achievement awards were presented to the student who has shown the most growth, contribution to class and positive attitude in a subject.

Winners were: American Government to Nicole Montagnet and American Government Achievement to Susan Lavinghouse; Advanced Math to Jennifer Burrows and Advanced Math Achievement to Ariane Mitchum; Chemistry Achievement to Susan Lavinghouse; Computer Achievement to Ariane Mitchum; Creative Writing Achievement to Kim Vance; English IV to Jessica Deffes and English IV Achievement to Cherie LeBlanc; Psychology to Jennifer Burrows; Typing I to Cynthia Martinolich; and World Geography to Nicole Dagnall.

Other awards given were Perfect Attendance to Cherie LeBlanc; Star Student to Nicole Montagnet and Star Teacher to Mary Alice Benvenuti; and Alpha Honor Roll to Jennifer Burrows, Jessica Deffes, Cherie LeBlanc and Nicole Montagnet.

Sister Jacqueline Howard, RSM, principal of Our Lady Academy, stated that more than 40 percent of the senior class received scholarships for further academic study.

Some of the scholarships being used include William Carey College to Michelle Beau-

CYNTHIA MARTINOLICH

Award, presented by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce to a student who exemplifies fine character, respect of peers and faculty as well as academic excellence went to Cynthia Ann Martinolich, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. K. Martinolich of Bay St. Louis. The American Legion Award, presented by the Clement R.

USM CAMP

HATTIESBURG—Six Coast area residents competed in the 36th annual Fine Arts Camp at the University of Southern Mississippi July 10-14.

Those participating in the activities included Pass Christian residents Michael A. Schramm and Thad McIntyre; Bay St. Louis resident Leslie Diamond; Gulfport residents Angela Sanders and Candie Cospelich; and Long Beach resident Amanda Nickerson.

The USM camp provided baton twirlers, drum majors and flag and rifle corps with experience in on-the-field performance, along with competition for top honors.

BREAST SELF-EXAM

Monday, August 8/1:00 P.M.

Breast Cancer will strike one in ten American women during their lifetime. Breast Self-Exam is the key to early detection. FREE classes in BSE are taught by trained nurses. The Breast Diagnostic Center at SMH offers routine baseline mammograms for $59.00 (including Radiologist's Professional Fee.) THIS EDUCATION IS A MUST FOR WOMEN OF ALL AGES.

SEXUAL DESIRES: TOO MUCH OR NOT ENOUGH

Dr. K. Bradley Frost, Sexologist

Monday, August 8/7:30 P.M.

Couples often struggle with sexual desire differences at some time in their relationship. Few couples consistently feel identical levels of sexual drive. When differences in desire lead to rejection and potential conflict, the relationship can suffer. Dr. K. Bradley Frost, Sexologist, will candidly discuss this commonly experienced phenomenon and provide suggestions for reducing the negative impact of this situation.

BREAST FEEDING CLINIC

Tuesday, August 9/1:00 P.M.

An informal discussion of the advantages of Breastfeeding and how to get started; including tips for breastfeeding and working, how to prevent sore nipples, and what to expect those first few days. Presented by La Leche League Leaders.

Brother Xavier Werneth, provincial of the New Orleans Province of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart, has been elected to a six-year term as assistant general for the community of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart.

When he completes his term as provincial in August, Brother Xavier will move to Rome where he will reside with the other members of the general administration.

Brother Marcel Riviere, who

New York, New Jersey, Louisiana, and Alabama.

In 1970 he was elected assistant general, and he has lived in Rome since that time. He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Riviere of Thibodaux.

The Brothers of the Sacred Heart, a religious order of men dedicated to the Christian education of youth, was founded at Lyon, France, on September 30, 1821, by Father Andre Coindre.

In 1847 the first Brothers of the Sacred Heart came to the United States.

Today, 1,663 Brothers work in 32 countries throughout the world.

There are 108 brothers in the New Orleans Province.

BRO. XAVIER WERNETH

has been an assistant general since 1970, will return to the New Orleans Province in August.

He will serve as director of the community of Brothers at St. Stanislaus in Bay St. Louis.

The Brothers of the Sacred Heart, whose generalate is in Rome, held their 31st General Chapter from June 15 through July 12.

Fifty-eight brothers, representing the 26 provinces and districts of the institute, participated in this meeting held in Rome.

Representing the New Orleans Province were Brothers Bernard Couvillon, Xavier Werneth, Ivy LeBlanc, and Marcel Riviere.

It was at this chapter that the election of the new general administration took place.

The chapter members chose Brother Jesus Marin Salcedo of Spain as the new superior general.

The assistants selected were Brothers Claude Cadoret (Canada), Xavier Werneth (United States), Felipe Albaina Garcia (Spain-Chile), and Armand Boisvert (Madagascar-Zaire).

Brother Xavier entered the pre-novitiate of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart in Daphne, Alabama, in 1958; and he took his first vows in Belvidere, New Jersey, in 1962.

He graduated summa cum laude from Spring Hill College in 1965, and he earned a master's degree in English from Louisiana State University in 1970. He has taught at Catholic High School in Baton Rouge, and he served as principal of Edward Douglas White Catholic High School in Thibodaux for six years.

BRO. MARCEL RIVIERE

In 1982 he was elected provincial of the New Orleans Province of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart, and he has held this position for the past six years. He is the son of Mrs. Maurine Werneth of Mobile and the late Mr. Francis Werneth.

Brother Marcel Riviere, a native of Thibodaux, La., made his first vows as a Brother of the Sacred Heart in 1945.

He received a degree in education in 1952 from Loyola University, and in 1961 he earned a licentiate degree in religious sciences from the Lateran University in Rome.

Holmes receives Girl Scout's top award

Alice Holmes

Alice Holmes of Bay St. Louis, was awarded Girl Scout's top honor, the Thanks Badge II, at the Gulf Pines Council Annual Awards Banquet held at the Royal d'Iberville in Biloxi.

The Thanks Badge II is a nationally recognized award for adults in Girl Scouting who have continued to give service that is so significantly above and beyond the call of duty that no other award would be appropriate. Recipients must have been formerly recognized with the Thanks Badge.

Mrs. Holmes, a Girl Scout volunteer for 34 years, received the Thanks Badge in 1972 from a Girl Scout council in Massachusetts. She was also recognized by the Gulf Pines Council in 1982 with the Magnolia Award for her outstanding contributions of service.

Mrs. Holmes is the troop leader of Bay St. Louis Troop 27 and serves in many other capacities in Girl Scouting. She was cited at the awards banquet as "a dedicated volunteer in every sense of the word."

OLE MISS LAW SCHOOL AWARD—University of Mississippi School of Law student Kevin J. Necaise (right) of Kiln receives the Edward R. Finch Jr. Space Law Award from Dean Thomas A. Edmonds. The award, which is presented annually at the Law School's Spring Awards Day ceremony, is given by the Honorable Edward R. Finch, Jr., a former U.S. ambassador and distinguished space lawyer. Students who are chosen to receive the award have displayed great ability and excellence in studying or researching problems of space law.

Hancock County student wins conservation poster contest

Alisa Wilkinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Wilkinson of Pearlinton and a fourth grade student at Charles B. Murphy Elementary School, has won the poster contest sponsored by Area 6 Association of Conservation Districts.

Area 6 consists of 17 counties in southeast Mississippi.

A local level contest was sponsored by Hancock County Soil and Water Conservation District in April for all the schools in the county.

Miss Wilkinson was the overall county winner. Her poster now enters the state level of competition.

Winners of the state competition are recognized at the annual winter meeting of the Mississippi Association of Conservation Districts held in Jackson in January.

Miss Wilkinson's poster theme was on conservation of soil and water.

For winning the area contest she was awarded a ribbon and certificate by Area 6 Vice President Truman Roberts at the association summer meeting at John C. Stennis Space Center.

All 17 counties were represented at this meeting.

St. Ann Church News

A thought for meditation from our pater Father Lambert Stack, ST.

"He who does God's will does enough; he who God is his father knows no fear."

—Reverend J. Henagen
A man who can pray is in no need of the world's pity for he has hidden Springs of Comfort.

—Reverend J. Henagen
Everyone planning to attend Confirmation Classes should meet with Father Stack this Saturday, Aug. 6 from 4 to 4:45 p.m. in the parish hall.

For the month of August Mrs. Helen Rohrbacher will be responsible for the Offertory Procession each Saturday during the 5 p.m. Vigil Mass at St. Ann Church, Clermont Harbor.

A special invitation to the youth of St. Ann-St. John Parish:

The parish CYO would like to invite all the young people from 12 through 18 years to come join their group of active teens.

Meetings are the first Monday of each month at 7 p.m. in the parish hall on Lower Bay Road in Clermont Harbor. We need you!

FINE ARTS CAMP

HATTIESBURG—Chad Albe of Waveland attended the 36th annual Fine Arts Camp at the University of Southern Mississippi July 10-14.

The USM camp provided baton twirlers, drum majors and flag and rifle corps with experience in on-the-field performance, along with competition for top honors.

PRC graduates record number

POPLARVILLE—Pearl River Community College set a school record this year in awarding diplomas or certificates of proficiency to 495 students during its 78th spring commencement ceremony.

The previous record of 475 students participating in graduation was set in 1983, according to Larry Stanford, director of public relations at PRC.

The school had already set a record prior to the ceremony, Stanford said, when 526 students applied for graduation this spring.

The following students were awarded diplomas or certificates of proficiency during the ceremony:

Wendy Sue Carver, associate degree in applied science; and Crystal Dawn Echols, certificate of proficiency, both of Lakeshore.

Donna Louise Lee, associate degree in applied science; James J. Favre II, certificate of proficiency; and Janice Michelle Pucheu, certificate of proficiency, all of Kiln.

Brenda Sue Ladner, associate in arts and associate in applied science in nursing; Drew Kenneth Malley and Dawn Pavocini Stephenson, certificates of proficiency, all of Pass Christian.

John F. Bosarge Jr., Jerry G.

Bounds, Taren Anne Breland, John Eric Fury, DuJuan Alayne Griffin, certificates of proficiency, all of Pearlinton.

Deidre Marie Ferrell, Janis Karen Greene, Nancy Martin, Donna M. Mitchell, Melissa Ann Monti and Tracey A. Barre, certificates of proficiency; and Tracey Michell Carver, associate in arts and associate in applied science in nursing, all of Waveland.

Preregistration slated by Pass district

Egan receives Bellamann Award

Courtney Ann Egan of Pearl River Community College has received the Bellamann Award at graduation ceremonies at Millsaps College.

Miss Egan received the B.A. degree with High Honors in art. The Bellamann Award was established at Millsaps in 1963 by Henry and Katherine Bellamann to recognize the achievements of a student who has done truly outstanding work in one of the creative arts—in writing, in composing, or in one of the graphic arts.

Her honors thesis, "An Investigation into Barbara Kruger's Use of Words and Images as a Strategy for Making Art," received a rating of Superior.

Miss Egan was a member of the Bobashela staff, and served as art editor for Stylus, the College's literary magazine. She was a member of Phi Eta Sigma, national honorary society which recognizes outstanding academic achievement in freshmen; and Eta Sigma Phi, national honor fraternity recognizing ability in classical studies.

She was a Dean's List student.

Magnificent promises should always be suspected.

The heart has reasons that reason itself does not understand.

dent, a member of the Art Club and a V.A. volunteer. She was a member of Kappa Delta sorority.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Egan of Pearl River, she plans to continue her study of art in graduate school.

Do your very best, and wait for the results in peace.

Be rich, if not in money, in happy hours and sunny days.

ADMINISTRATOR COURSE

HATTIESBURG—Lennette Necaise of Pass Christian and Carol Bustetter of Bay St. Louis participated in a "Teacher/Administrator Legal Rights and Responsibilities" summer short course July 18-22 at the University of Southern Mississippi.

Taught by University of Massachusetts Education Policy, Research and Administration Professor David M. Schimmel, the Education Law Institute class curriculum featured discussions of teachers' freedom of expression, child abuse, students' rights of free speech and press, religious freedom in the school environment, school searches and other related topics.

BELLAMANN AWARD—Courtney Ann Egan of Pearl River Community College received the Bellamann Award at graduation ceremonies at Millsaps College. She is pictured with Millsaps President George M. Harmon.

NEXT WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY SALOME

Weekly Tip: Outside forces are working with you.

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 19) A favorable alignment allows you to make headway concerning your financial affairs. Watch for variables. Attend parties.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) Family and friends are willing and able—depend on them if necessary. Use your clout at the office to get plans underway.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) An active social calendar puts you in the party spotlight this week. Have fun with co-workers. Don't forget the value of a tried and true friendship.

Cancer (June 21-Jul. 20) Someone will need your advice; be flattered, even though this is a time consuming compliment. New faces and places will pervade your personal world.

Leo (Jul. 21-Aug. 22) If plans go awry, don't fret: new ones are on the way. Avoid the urge to be a spendthrift.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If cancellations abound, it's for the best. Take time to study your position and how best to improve it. Find ways to seek more personal happiness.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) It's an active week, so gear yourself up for it! A new romantic partner could surface in the next few days. Financial arrangements should not be made now.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Important decisions will keep you awake at night, and they must be attended to immediately. Someone you trust should be consulted on these matters.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) A serious change of direction in your professional life is certain to take you off guard. Examine all consequences.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Lay low for a while and restore your reserves. Some negative force has been draining your energy. Insist on perfection concerning business deals.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Interesting bits of information will swing your way this week. Remember: Don't believe everything you hear. Keep your wallet closed for now.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) It's really not the best time to make travel plans, since unknown factors will work against you. Simple but elegant is the approach for you to take now.

If you were born this week, you are most likely a charming, intelligent and relaxed individual (like most of your Cancer cronies). You do, however, have a tendency to get a little uptight a little too quickly. The little things in life are those which get under YOUR skin. Discipline yourself not to let this happen, as your charm and intellect often tell you.

Schwegmann It's Worth The Trip!

Schwegmann Slidell is worth the short 20-minute trip from Picayune and points north or from the Bay St. Louis-Waveland-Pass Christian area. It's a true shopping experience with more than three times the variety of items than most stores, and at low Schwegmann prices. Whether you're shopping for a big family or small one, your weekly trip to Schwegmann more than pays for itself in money saved.

Schwegmann offers fresh, U.S.D.A. Choice meats that are guaranteed to please, plus a full selection of fresh seafood, produce and even imported cheeses. Your one trip to Schwegmann can also handle your other shopping needs, including party supplies, hardware items, housewares, sporting goods, automotive needs and more. Plenty of parking, buses welcome.
